1 Introduction:

1.1 This policy forms part of our school's commitment to keeping children safe. Since the 'Education and Inspections Act 2006', schools have a duty to promote community cohesion. Over the last few years, global events have led to a growth in extremist viewpoints, including advocacy of violent extremism. In March 2015, new statutory duties were placed on schools by the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act (2015), which states that all schools and colleges have a duty under section 26 of the Act to have "due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism." This duty is known as the PREVENT Duty.

1.2 The School recognises that children are susceptible to extremist ideology and radicalisation. There is no single way of identifying whether a child is likely to be susceptible to an extremist ideology. Background factors combined with specific influences such as family and friends may contribute to a child's vulnerability. Similarly, radicalisation can occur through many different methods (such as social media) and settings (such as the internet).

1.3 It is possible to protect vulnerable people from extremist ideology and intervene to prevent those at risk being radicalised. As with other safeguarding risks, our staff should be alert to changes in children's behaviour which could indicate that they may be in need of help or protection. We have a duty to prepare our children for life in modern Britain and to keep them safe. All staff are expected to uphold and promote the fundamental principles of British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs. Evidence shows that children with low aspirations are more susceptible to radicalisation. Therefore, the school's ethos and the work it carries out to ensure students have confidence and self-belief and are tolerant and respectful whilst having high expectations of themselves, are crucial in combating radicalisation.

2 Aims:

The main aims of this policy statement are to ensure that all staff and the Local Improvement Board are vigilant for signs of radicalization, to overcome professional disbelief that such issues 'will not happen here,' and to work alongside other professional bodies and agencies, ensuring the safety of our children from harm.

3 Objectives:

- All Local Board, teachers, teaching assistants and non-teaching staff will have an understanding of what radicalisation and extremism are and why we need to be vigilant in school
- All Local Board members, teachers, teaching assistants and non-teaching staff will know and understand the school policy on anti-radicalisation and extremism, and will follow the policy when issues arise
- The school will ensure this policy is available to the wider community through its website.

4 Definitions:

- Radicalisation: refers to the process by which a person comes to support terrorism and extremist ideologies associated with terrorist groups.
- Extremism: is the vocal or active opposition to our fundamental values, including the rule of law, individual liberty and the mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. This also includes calling for the death of members of the armed forces or incitement to violence for political means.
- British Values: include democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs.

5 Indicators of Vulnerability:

There are no known definitive indicators that a young person is susceptible to radicalisation, but there are a number of signs that together increase the risk. These include:

- Identity Crisis – the student is distanced from their cultural / religious heritage and experiences discomfort about their place in society
- Personal Crisis – the student may be experiencing family tensions; a sense of isolation; and low self-esteem; they may have dissociated from their existing friendship group and become involved with a new and different group of friends; they may be searching for answers to questions about identity, faith and belonging
- Personal Circumstances – migration, local community tensions and events affecting the student's country or region of origin may contribute to a sense of grievance that is triggered by personal experience of racism or discrimination or aspects of Government policy
- Unmet Aspirations – the student may have perceptions of injustice; a feeling of failure; rejection of civic life
- Experiences of Criminality – which may include involvement with criminal groups, imprisonment and poor resettlement/reintegration
- Special Educational Need – students may experience difficulties with social interaction, empathy with others, understanding the consequences of their actions and awareness of the motivations of others.

However, this list is not exhaustive, nor does it mean that all young people experiencing the above are at risk of radicalisation for the purposes of violent extremism.

More critical risk factors could include:

- Being in contact with extremist recruiters
- Accessing violent extremist websites, especially those with a social networking element

- Possessing or accessing violent extremist literature
- Using extremist narratives and a global ideology to explain personal disadvantage
- Justifying the use of violence to solve societal issues
- Joining or seeking to join extremist organisations
- Significant changes to appearance and / or behaviour
- Experiencing a high level of social isolation resulting in issues of identity crisis and / or personal crisis.

6 Recognising Extremism:

Early indicators of radicalisation or extremism may include:

- Showing sympathy for extremist causes
- Glorifying violence, especially to other faiths or cultures
- Making remarks or comments about being at extremist events or rallies outside school (but there are also very powerful narratives, programmes, and networks that young people can come across online so particular individuals / groups may not become apparent)
- Evidence of possessing illegal or extremist literature (including political)
- Advocating messages similar to illegal organisations or other extremist groups
- Out of character changes in dress, behaviour, and peer relationships
- Secretive behaviour
- Online searches or sharing extremist messages or social profiles
- Intolerance of difference, including faith, culture, gender, race, or sexuality
- Graffiti artwork or writing that displays extremist themes
- Attempts to impose extremist views or practices on others
- Verbalising anti-Western or anti-British views
- Verbalising far right or far left views (where discrimination and hatred are expressed)
- Advocating violence towards others

7 Procedure for referrals:

It is important for us to be vigilant and fully informed about issues that affect the local and wider area. Staff are reminded to suspend any professional disbelief that incidents of radicalisation 'could not happen here' and to refer any concerns to the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL), or Deputy Designated Safeguarding Leads (DDSLs) in school. Staff can also contact the local police force or dial 101 (the non-emergency number). Where they can talk in confidence about their concerns and access support and advice.

The Point of Contact are the Headteacher or Assistant Headteacher (DSL) who is responsible for:

- Acting as the first point of contact within the school for case discussions relating to pupils who may be at risk of radicalisation or involved in terrorism
- Making PREVENT referrals when necessary
- Liaising with the Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH team)
- Attending Channel meetings as necessary, or ensuring that the school is represented, and carrying out any actions as agreed
- Sharing any relevant additional information in a timely manner with appropriate personnel and/or local agencies.
- Ensuring that all staff are aware and work together to protect students from radicalisation and involvement in terrorism

- Maintaining and applying a good understanding of the relevant guidance in relation to preventing students from becoming involved in terrorism, and protecting them from radicalisation by those who support terrorism, or forms of extremism, which lead to terrorism
- Raising awareness within the school about the safeguarding processes relating to protecting pupils from radicalisation and involvement in terrorism

8 Role of the Curriculum:

Our students have access to a comprehensive scheme of lessons and learning in which they develop resilience and awareness of extremist ideologies. British values are taught through the PSHE and RSHE programme.

There are explicit modules of extremism and radicalisation. However, the British values of democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs are interwoven throughout the PSHE curriculum. In addition to this we have a robust careers programme which enhances pupils' aspiration to help combat their vulnerability to extremist groups. The assembly programme encourages pupils to take on roles of responsibility and we also encourage leadership through our House system.

9 Staff training:

Through training opportunities, we ensure that our staff are fully aware of the threats, risks, and vulnerabilities linked to radicalisation, as well as the process of radicalization and how to identify it early on. All staff have a mandatory commitment to complete Home Office online PREVENT training before commencing their employment. The DSL is in regular contact with our county PREVENT police officer, who provides contextual safeguarding information. This information is then disseminated to staff through the monthly safeguarding staff updates.

10 Safer recruitment:

We ensure our recruitment processes are rigorous, in line with statutory requirements, best practice guidance and the school's safer recruitment policy. These processes include the use of DBS checks and online searches for all employees, members of the Local Improvement Board, and regular volunteers.
